Book Reviews

Since 1985, I have published about 150 book reviews. For a listing, see <http://www.personal.psu.edu/faculty/j/p/jpj1/bookreviews.htm>.

PAPERS PRESENTED AND INVITED LECTURES

See <http://www.personal.psu.edu/faculty/j/p/jpj1/conference.htm> and <http://www.personal.psu.edu/faculty/j/p/jpj1/invited.htm>

Since 1980, I have delivered over a hundred papers to scholarly gatherings and professional associations, most regularly to groups like the American Society of Criminology, Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences, and the Pennsylvania Historical Association. I have also presented papers to groups as diverse as the Organization of American Historians, American Society of Eighteenth Century Studies, the Group for Early Modern Cultural Studies, G. K. Chesterton Society, Popular Culture Association, American Correctional Association, American Association of Law Librarians, and the Pennsylvania Labor History Society.

In addition, I have given invited lectures to a wide variety of groups, and over the past decade I have spoken at more than a hundred universities, colleges and seminaries in North America and Europe. Some examples of such presentations include:

"Futures of American Religion," Netherlands American Studies Association. Middelburg, Netherlands, June 2001.

"Globalization and the Transformation of Christianity," Foreign Policy Research Institute, Philadelphia, PA, September 2001.

I was the subject of an "Author meets Critics" session on "Philip Jenkins as Social Constructionist," at the American Society of Criminology, Atlanta, November 2001

- "The Competition for Converts between Christianity and Islam," Harvard Academy, Seminar on Globalization and Culture, Harvard University, March 2002.
- Participant in panel on "The Three Kingdoms and the New British History," Keough Institute for Irish Studies, Notre Dame University, May 2002.
- Panelist at conference on "The Bible and the Ballot: Evangelicals and Third World Democracy," Potomac, Maryland, June 2002
- "After Father Geoghan: The Lessons of the Clergy Abuse Cases," Invited lecture to Conference on Victimization of Children and Youth, University of New Hampshire, Portsmouth, NH, August, 2002

Over the last decade, I have participated in (at least) several hundred interviews with the mass media (newspapers, radio and television), and have been frequently quoted in news reports in North America and Europe. My media appearances include newspapers and radio stations in the United Kingdom, Ireland, Canada, Australia, Denmark, Sweden, the Netherlands, and Brazil, as well as in many different regions of the United States.

I have appeared on a number of news specials and CNN documentaries covering a variety of topics, including the sexual abuse crisis in the Catholic Church, as well as serial murder, terrorism, and aspects of violent crime. In the past few years, most of my media appearances have concerned the topic of global Christianity. I was interviewed on Fox's The Beltway Boys, and on the 2003 documentary Battle for Souls (Discovery Times Channel). I appeared on the History Channel special, Time Machine: 70's Fever (2009).

I have often appeared on talk radio, including NPR's All Things Considered and Fresh Air, and on various BBC and RTE programs. I have been a guest on the syndicated radio programs of Diane Rehm, Michael Medved, and James Kennedy, as well as the nationally broadcast Canadian shows Tapestry, Currents, and Ideas. In March 2010, I was interviewed on NPR's All Things Considered on the topic of, Is the Bible More Violent Than The Quran?, at

EXPERT TESTIMONY AND CONSULTING

I have served as an expert witness in a number of trials and legal hearings, drawing on my knowledge of, variously, sexual abuse by clergy; contemporary US religion; cults and new religions; and designer drugs.

In June 2000, I testified before the Crime Subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee of the US House of Representatives, which was holding hearings into "Ecstasy and Other Club Drugs." My statement is online at <http://www.house.gov/judiciary/jenk0615.htm>. This testimony was also reprinted as "Ecstasy and Synthetic Panics", in the Journal of Cognitive Liberties 1(3)(2000): 7-28.

In September 2006, I testified before the Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations of the Energy and Commerce Committee of the US House of Representatives. The theme of the hearing was "Sexual Exploitation of Children Over the Internet." My testimony can be found at <http://energycommerce.house.gov/108/Hearings/09262006hearing2039/Jenkins.pdf>
